

Ashley Clingman is a great candidate for this award and it is with great pleasure that the Boerne Parks & Recreation and Boerne Hill Country Comets Track and Field Team nominate her. She is one of the most humble athletes on the team, despite being very successful in her sport. Ashley has a tremendous appetite for learning. She is able to recognize that she needs to get better each day to be successful. Ashley always seeks out feedback in practice and is not afraid of constructive criticism. She has the insight to understand feedback is the breakfast of champions in sports and life. Ashley constantly studies and seeks out new things to learn. She went through some struggles early in the season but was able to stay focused through the tough times. Ashley always displays a great interest in other athletes' performance just as much as her own. She is always on time and even comes to practice on her rest day to help her fellow athletes. Ashley has already had multiple achievements this year in track and field, to include:
